Arad, Romania

UI & Product Designer @ Redouble

In my current role, I mainly help optimize the platform of a leading provider of web based property management software focused on the public sector in the UK. My tasks are devided between: validating solutions through the creation of wireframes at different fidelities; designing component-based UIs that are ready for development; building interactive prototypes that showcase micro-interactions; and developing a design system from scratch, based on current and future needs. I also get involved in designing apps, e-commerce, presentation websites and landing pages for several other clients.

UI Designer @ Mediatic

As part of an agile team, I took on a big project for a national tourism agency. My main tasks were designing the mobile version of the booking website, from wireframe to high fidelity deliverables, articulating design decisions to the client and assisting the developers during the implementation phase. When the client changed its entire business model I had to propagate it on the web through a redesign of the website. Besides the main project, I also got my hands on designing a platform for freelance photographers as well as several campaign landing pages for Toyota, Jacobs and Eurosport.

Web & Graphic Designer @ Icetech

At my first job in an agency, I learned to collaborate with colleagues from different disciplines. I worked alongside a DTP Operator to create print advertising materials following specific brand guidelines. Moreover, in close collaboration with the developers, I designed and built static presentation websites using already implemented templates.

Graphic Designer @ Freelance Work

Taking on projects from clients all over the world, I successfully translated requirements into promotional materials for print, logos, packaging, web pages and web assets, focusing on aesthetics and conveying the intended message.
